

European Journal of POLITICAL ECONOMY

Invitation to submit to the

2nd EJPE Academic Writing Workshop

14 -19 July, Villa Garbald, Castasegna, Switzerland

The objective of the workshop is to improve the participants' academic writing skills. During the workshop the participants will revise a first draft of a paper and prepare it for submission to a journal. The instruction will be "hands on": closely interacting with the instructors and an assigned mentor, the participants will critically analyze and polish their research papers. They will gain a better appreciation of good professional writing in economics and also learn how to perfect their performance in presenting their work.

The workshop is restricted to 12 doctoral students or postdocs: 2 from the ifo Institute, 3 from the University of Strasbourg, 3 from the University of Konstanz, and 4 from other European universities. The workshop is sponsored by Elsevier's European Journal of Political Economy. This year's co-sponsor is the Munich-based ifo Institute for Economic Research, one of Germany's largest economic think tanks, and the French-German University.

Instructors:

Toke Aidt, University of Cambridge
Arye Hillman, Bar-Ilan University
Bertrand Koebel, University of Strasbourg
Heinrich Ursprung, University of Konstanz

If you are a doctoral student or a postdoc specializing in political economy, feel free to apply by sending a first version of one of your papers and your CV (deadline 30th April 2013) to

Heinrich.Ursprung@uni-konstanz.de

For the workshop you need a Laptop that can access WLAN.

Workshop fee: 300 Swiss francs (includes accommodation, breakfast, and dinner. Travel expenses are included only for students from Strasbourg and Konstanz).

Directions for travel: with train and bus from Zurich via St.Moritz, from Milano by car 134 km